GLADMAN PLANNING APPLICATION

17/00434/PPP

70 HOUSES on CAMPSIE ROAD

INTRODUCTION

Late in 2016 the community responded to Gladman’s “pre-application consultation” regarding proposals for a substantial residential development on Campsie Road, Strathblane. This proposed the moving of the existing Green Belt boundary and moving the currently designated cemetery to a site further east.

The community responses to its consultation were negative, and the proposal is contrary to Stirling’s established Local Development Plan. However, a planning application has now been filed, and it is vital that the community considers the proposals and makes submissions to Stirling Council by 7 August 2017.

The “illustrative master plan” is shown below. Links to the application details are provided on our web page (above) and Strathblane Community Council is organising drop-in sessions at which you can view more detail of the proposals.

The attached survey questionnaire has been designed to allow you to form your views of the Gladman proposal and provide input to Strathblane Community Council. The questionnaire also seeks input on the types of new housing that may actually be needed in the local area.

Everyone’s priorities and views are different, so it is vital that as many residents as possible make their own submissions directly to Stirling.

WHAT HAS CHANGED?

See Survey questions 1-4

Gladman Developments organised a “pre-application consultation” in October-December 2016. The community council organised opportunities to view the materials and comment, including a supplement in the November Blane Valley Bulletin.

The “illustrative master plan” shows a layout of 62 housing units, of which 20 would be designated “affordable”. The layout is the same as shown in the pre-application consultation, while the “Design Statement” provides some more detail of house types and proposed landscape setting.

However, the application is only for planning permission “in principle” for “up to 70 houses”. Gladman itself is not a developer, and the illustrative plan is not binding on any developer.

We have said before that an “In Principle” planning application does not give enough information for the proposal to be assessed against either the needs of the local community, or the relevant planning criteria. What has changed?

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

See Survey Questions 5-8

The current Local Development Plan (LDP) is based on extensive consideration of the local needs, local communities’ comments and planning policy. The process fully evaluated the housing needs and options, as well as capacity of infrastructure and long-term goals of “sustainability”. The site targeted in this proposal is designated as Green Belt, and earmarked for a cemetery extension which is needed quite urgently.

The Local Development Plan proposes that any large-scale development should be in Stirling’s “Core Area”, that is the area around Stirling city. Strathblane is said to require only small-scale expansion, with the aim of sustaining local services and facilities through increased diversity in the population. 28 units were recently completed by Cala and Rural Stirling Housing Association at Campsie Road. A new allocation of up to 30 units has been included in the Proposed LDP for 2017 (site below the Devil’s Elbow, South of the A81).

The owner of the Gladman site has promoted this site for housing at every stage of the Local Development Plan process, and been rejected by Stirling and the Scottish Government Reporters. The surrounding land north and south of the site is in the same ownership.

CEMETERY PROVISION

See Survey Question 9

A cemetery extension is urgently needed. Stirling’s plan is to create a cemetery extension on this site, adjacent to the Cala Development. The agreed location is within walking distance from the Church, existing parking and the village facilities. This serves also to close the envelope of the village, and establish a robust Green Belt boundary.

ESSENTIAL LOCAL SERVICES

See Survey Questions 10-11

The community council identified concerns that this proposal would impact on the public services negatively resulting in at least a 10% increase in population; our local schooling, which is close to full capacity; our roads system and our waste water sewage which is also close to capacity. We are remote from the local authority services, and already larger in population than the other villages in the rural area.

The neighbouring authority, East Dunbartonshire Council also made submissions against expansion of Stirling’s rural villages. Transport issues such as commuter traffic, and conflict with tourist traffic were highlighted.

HOUSING NEED

See Survey Questions 12-17

The community council is determined that any new housing developments here should be driven by the needs of the local community. Tell us about your thoughts and needs.
